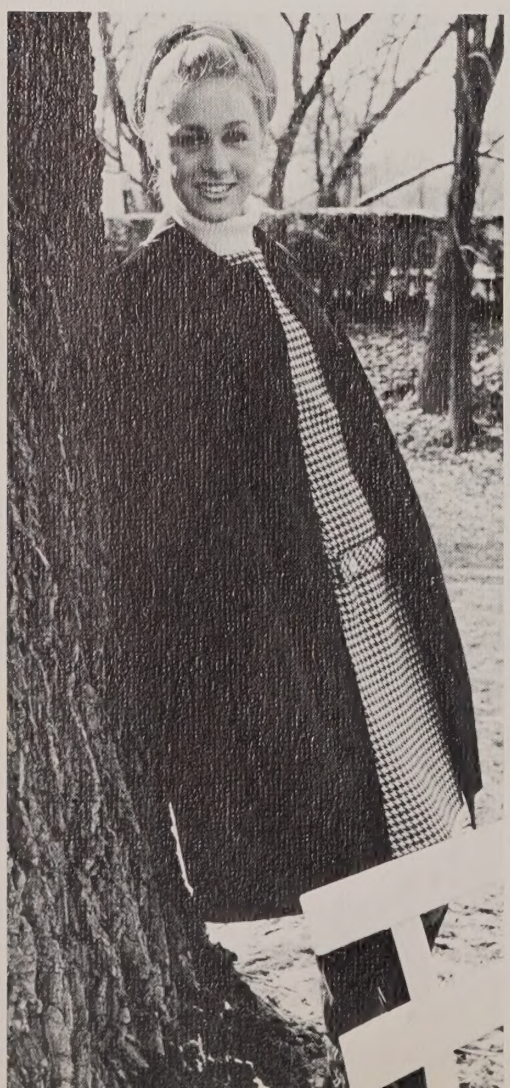
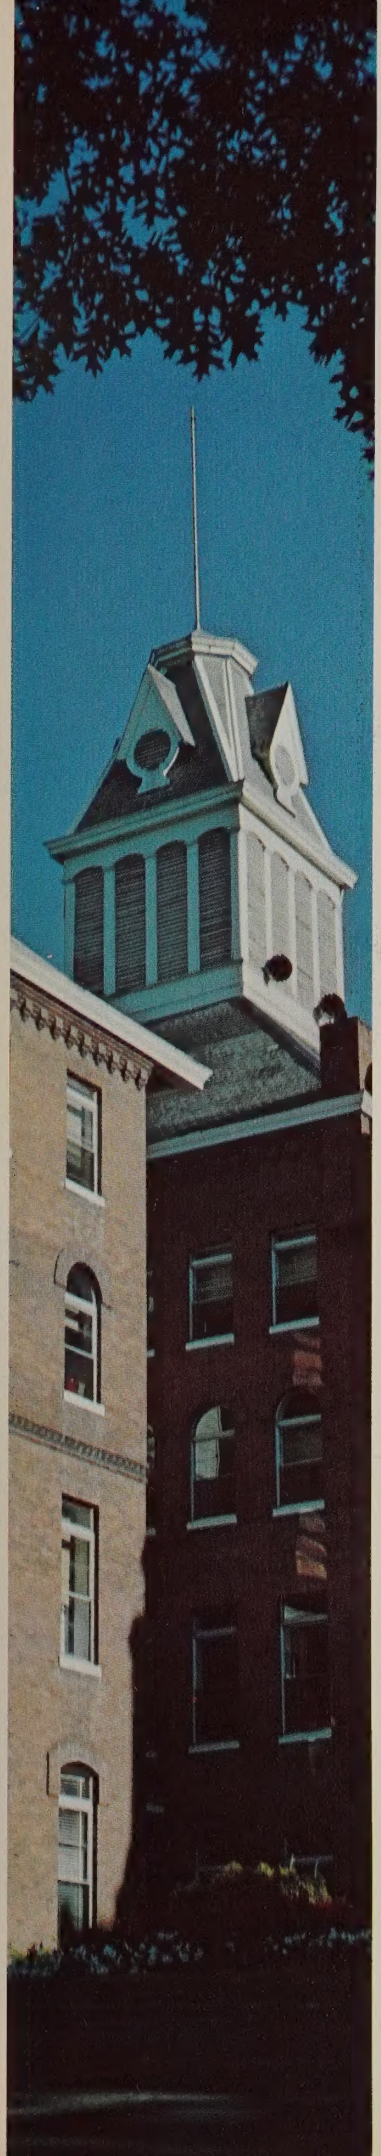
Nothing Without Guidance

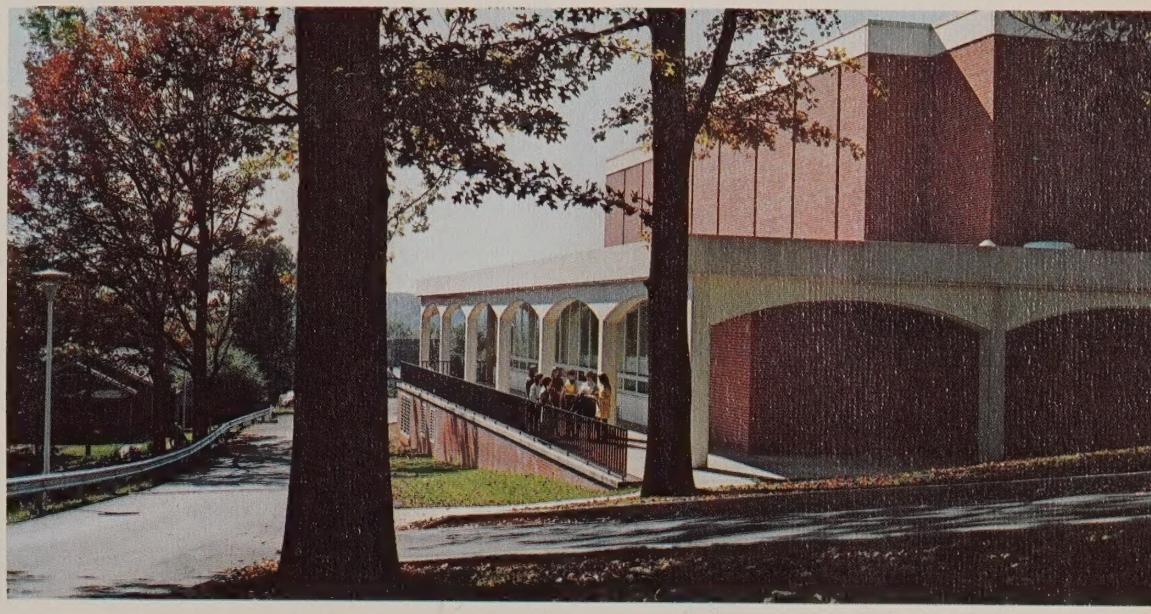
At Virginia Intermont we seek . . .



. . . to develop confidence in ourselves, to lead rich, full lives; to be respected and admired by those around us. We are sometimes mistaken in the things we think will give us all this. Often it takes years of living to make us realize that, by themselves, beauty, wealth, social position, fame—or all of these together—will not automatically make us successful persons, or guarantee our happiness. We require direction.

As young women in our first years of college we relish our new experiences among these mountains . . .





. . . groping to explore our own personalities and to understand those around us.

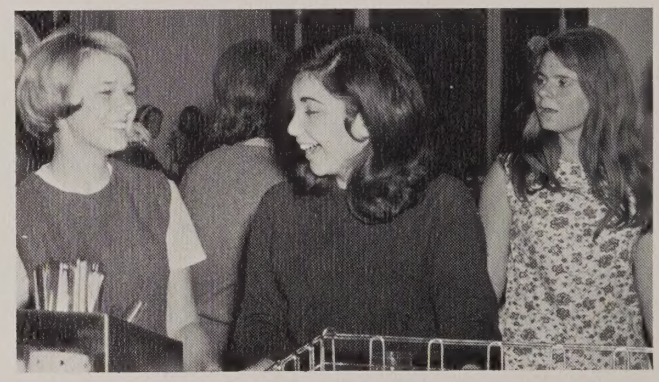
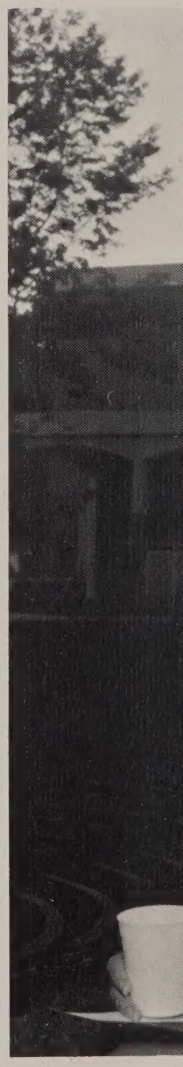
At Virginia Intermont we discover . . .

. . . bit by bit the management of our lives is passing from our parents and others into our own hands. We discover the struggle of self-direction.

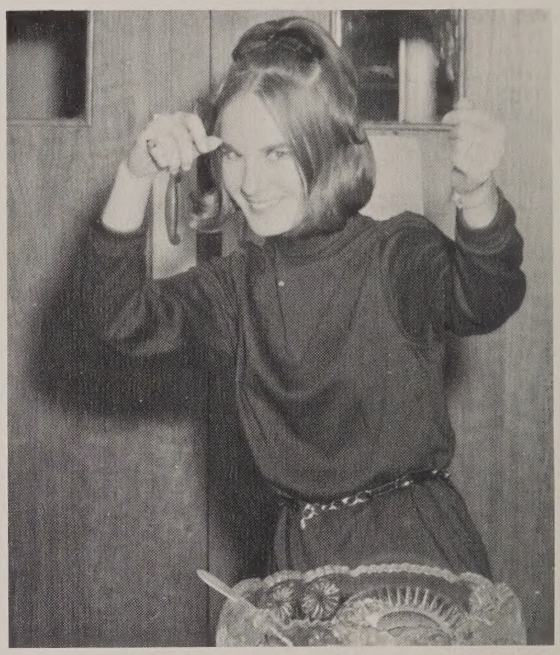
We think about the future. We plan our personal goals, forming values and setting standards that will guide our lives . . .



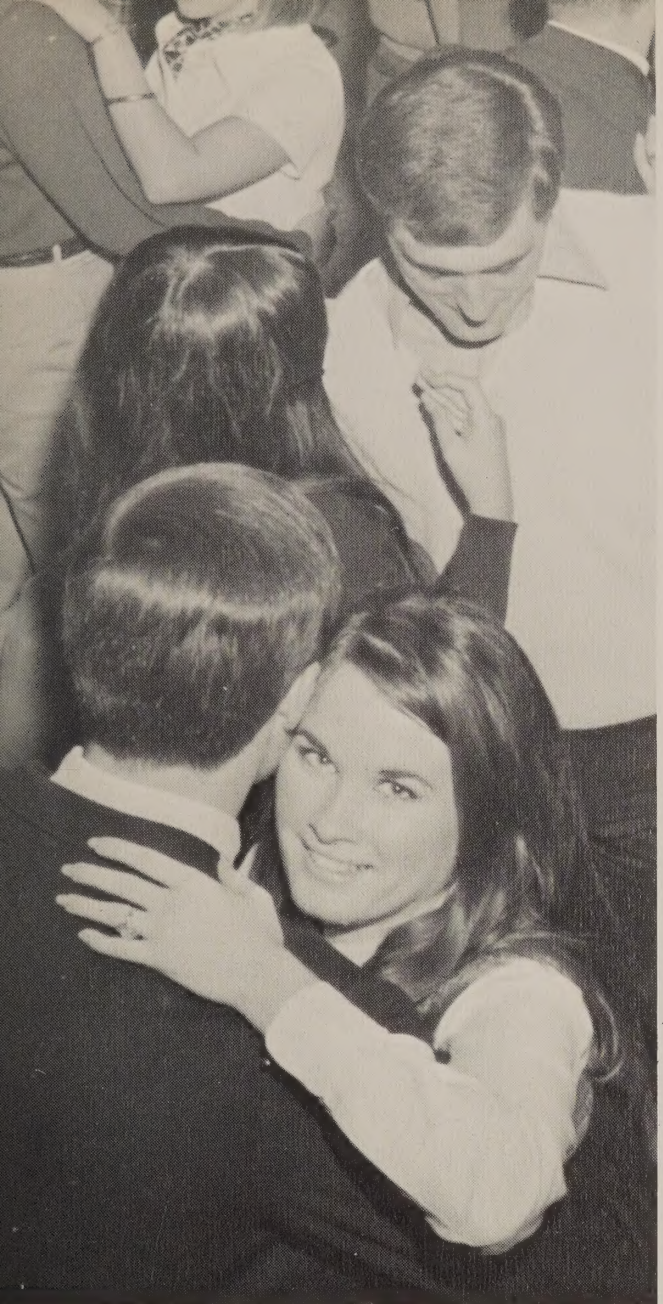


. . . and be passed on to future generations.

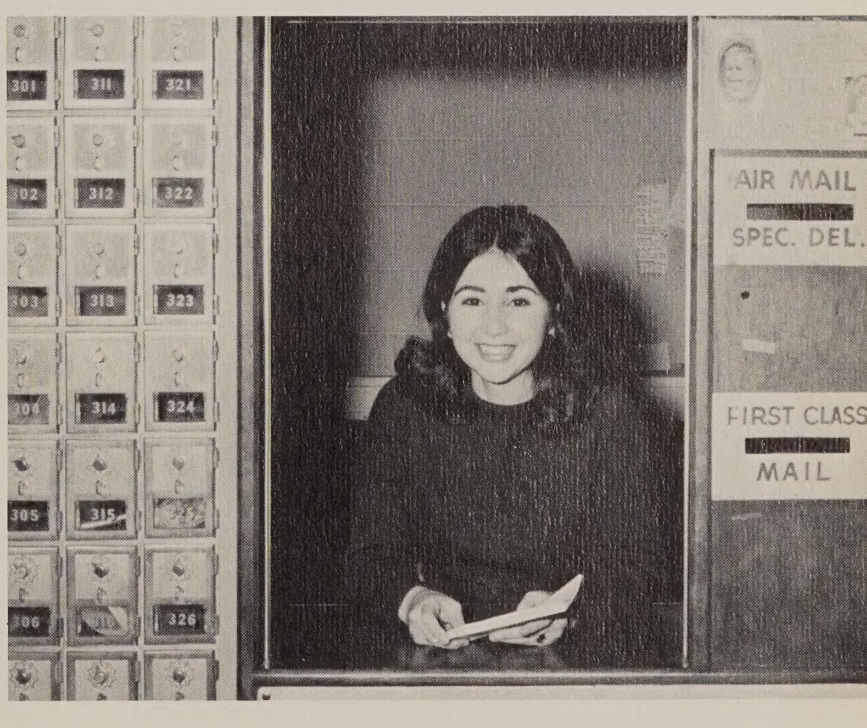
In our personal development . . .



. . . there is bound to be uncertainty and confusion, as we strive to know ourselves and to take our places in a new educational environment.



Sometimes we need help in making up our minds about . . .



. . . how we really feel, what we most want in life and what we honestly expect to accomplish.

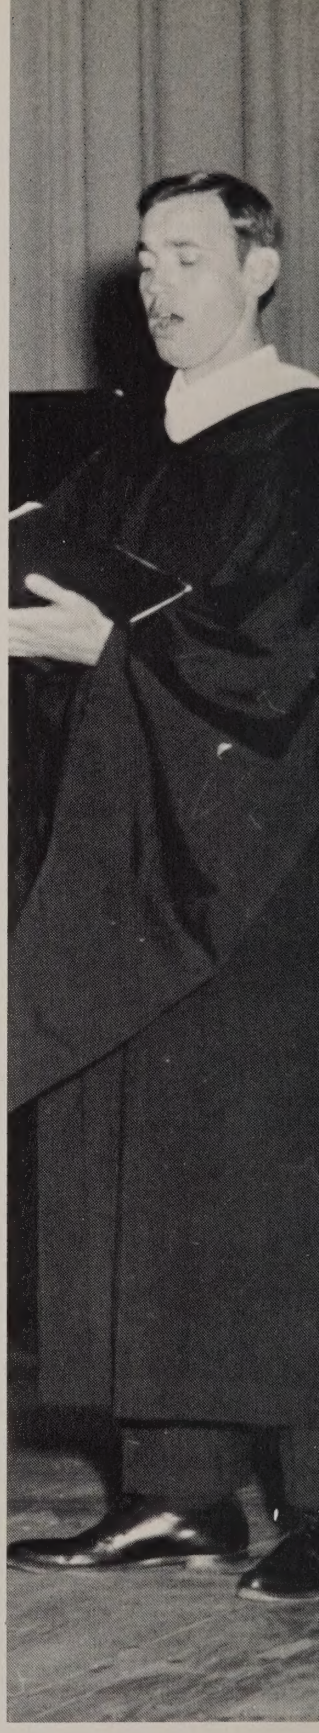
Individual guidance provides . . .

. . . direction which we follow in our own day-to-day living; which often helps us see things in a fresh light or clarifies our own ideas.

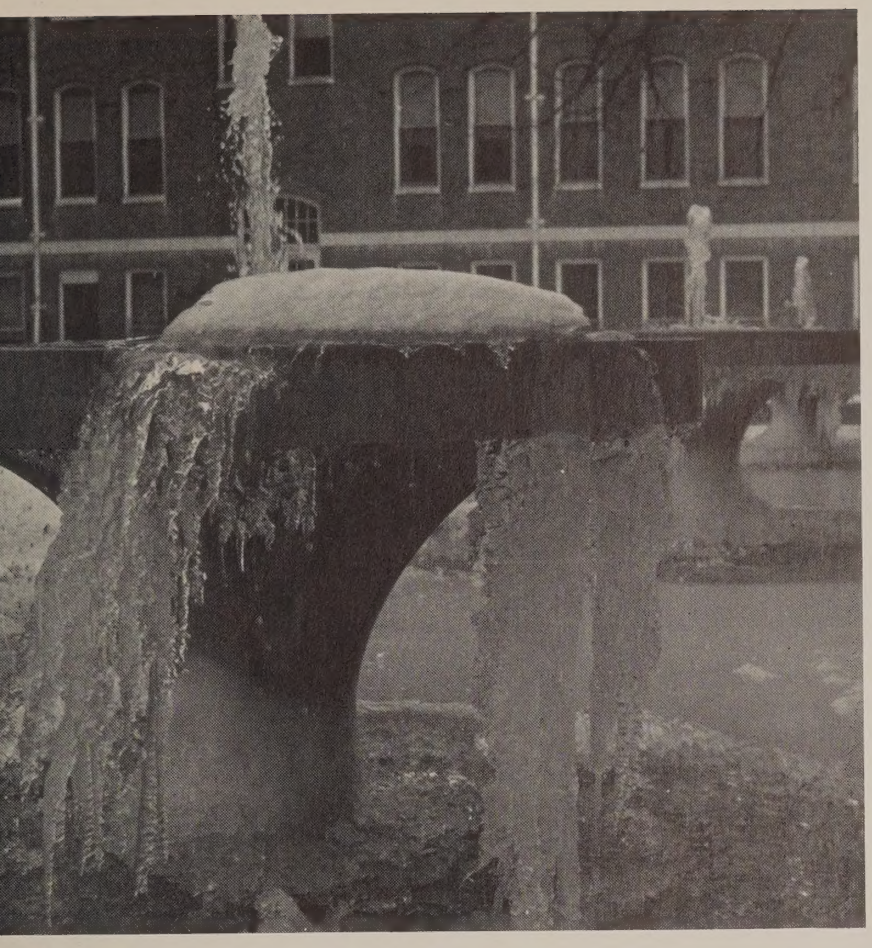
Guidance at Virginia Intermont exerts a powerful influence in guiding our . . .

. . . learning and living.

Guidance so strongly affects the changes in our lives that, truly . . .



. . . we have "nothing without guidance."



When in the midst of happiness
There is sorrow,
When our studies don't fulfill
The desired result,
When our fingers slip from a dream
We almost touched,
When a friend turns her Back . . .
When snow flakes are slush
On the edge of the walk,
When a prayer doesn't seem
Enough,
When we need,
There is guidance . . .

Administration

Dr. Floyd V. Turner President

Since Dr. Turner assumed Presidential duties at Virginia Intermont in 1956, the college has grown rapidly. One of Dr. Turner's greatest achievements was realized this year when the Board of Trustees approved a plan to convert Virginia Intermont to a four-year college.

Civic-minded as well as "Intermont-minded," Dr. Turner is a member of the Kiwanis Club, the Bristol Chamber of Commerce, and the Board of Directors of the Bristol Boys' Club.

Serving as Academic Dean of Belmont College in Nashville, Tennessee, before coming to Virginia Intermont College, Dr. Turner holds Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Kansas City and the Doctor of Education degree from George Peabody College.

Administration

A sincere individual, always willing to assist, is our Academic Dean, Dr. Norman L. Nunn, who came to Virginia Intermont College on July 1, 1967. Dr. Nunn is an energetic member of the Civitan Club of Bristol, patron of the Phi Beta Fraternity, and a melodic tenor in the choir of the First Baptist Church.

Holding the Bachelor of Music degree and the Master of Music degree from the Kansas City Conservatory of Music and the Ph.D. degree from Florida State University, Dr. Nunn is a member of the following professional and honorary societies: Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, Phi Delta Kappa and the National Association of Teachers of Singing.

Fall, 1968 marked the beginning of a new era at Virginia Intermont College, the Era of Student Responsibility. With a lot of hard work and a little of her own special ability to get measures considered, Dean Audrey Kirkpatrick changed many past restrictions into individual responsibilities—later hours, greater number of weekends, and no more date forms, to mention a few.

Always easily accessible, Miss Kirkpatrick has a warm smile for "her girls," and a quick wit to ease our less comfortable moments.

Miss Kirkpatrick obtained her B.A. in Education from the University of Florida, and received her Masters in Sociology from the University of Tennessee. She also did additional graduate work at Louisiana State University.

Responsibility for all purchases, expenses, and the college payroll goes to Mr. Adair and the business office staff. The Bank of Intermont operates through this office for the students' convenience.

As Director of Guidance, Mr. Glass is invaluable to students by his supplying vocational and educational information and through his analysis of personal data, tests, and interviews.

Director of Development Mr. Styles manages college activities, financial support from foundations, corporations, parents, and alumnae. He directs an executive secretary to the Alumnae Association who contacts some 6000 alumnae worldwide through the alumnae magazine, Alumnae Weekend, and the national alumnae organization.

All religious activities are coordinated by Mrs. Willet. She plans the campus Monday night devotions, vesper services, and publicizes the annual Appalachian Preaching Mission.

The new Social Director, Miss Edens organizes the student social program, supervises the school calendar, and assists Dean Kirkpatrick in arranging school-sponsored activities.

Every college depends on a staff and Virginia Intermont College depends on the best. The new nurses, Mrs. Boring and Mrs. Trannum, care for the physical well-being of the student bodies. Our staff is responsible for the excellent preparation of food, campus maintenance, and the operation of the student center and book store.

The library staff seems always willing to offer immediate individual attention when needed. The faculty depends heavily on the annual updating of our library's facilities.

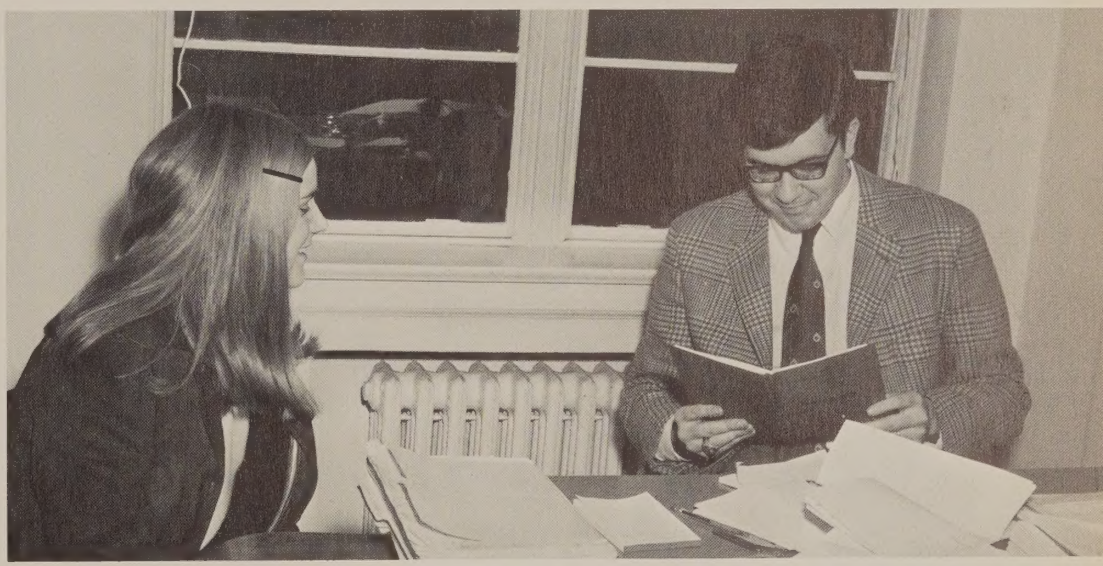
"Dear authors! Suit your topics to your strength, and ponder well your subject and its length"—Byron.

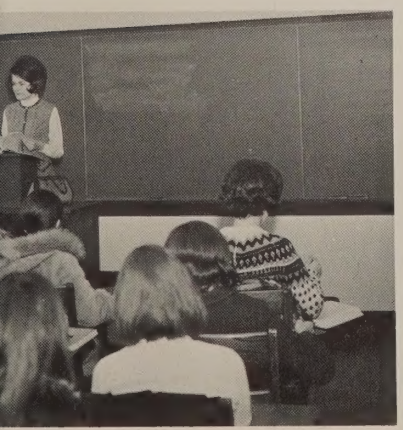
Through the comprehensive English courses offered at Virginia Intermont, every student learns to pay particular attention to these words of wisdom. Professors employ their own individual teaching techniques, enabling students to learn not only correct grammar but effective communication in writing.

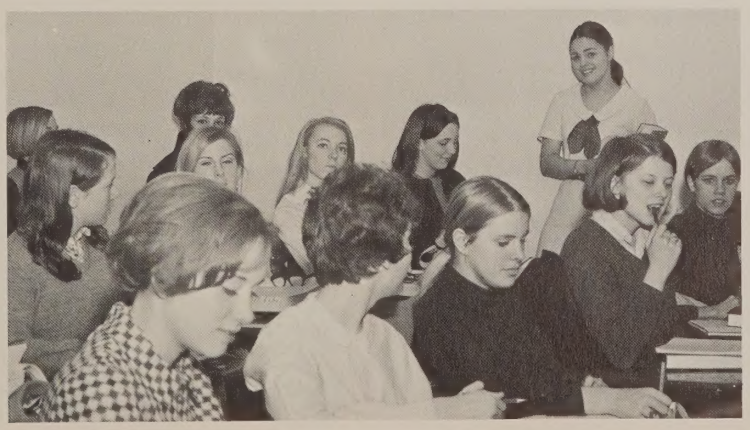
Freshmen begin their English course with exercises in grammar, composition and creative writing. Later, through a study of literature, they learn to criticize other writings intelligently with emphasis placed on literature content and form.

English and American Literature are the courses offered for sophomores. Students discover the ingredients in great literature which have enabled these works to survive through the centuries. Their discoveries provoke lively discussions which encourage student participation and analysis.

An additional course in journalistic news writing provides experience for interested students. By submitting articles for the "Cauldron" and other outside sources, students gain satisfaction from seeing their stories in print.







Mathematics and Science

Addition, subtraction, and multiplication tables are carried a few steps further in the mathematics courses scheduled at Virginia Intermont. Algebra, trigonometry, and math analysis provide a generalized review while calculus and analytical geometry offer an in-depth study of the number system.

Through the study of science, new worlds of knowledge are available for the V.I. student. Comprehensive courses in anatomy, botany, chemistry, microbiology, physics, organic chemistry, and zoology lead the student through the mysteries of nature found in books, microscopes, and their practical application.

Philosophy and Religion

Courses instructed by Dr. Taylor and Mr. Garber stimulated interest in the history of the Christian religion. An introductory study of the world's religions offered an opportunity to review the various age-old religious traditions.

Philosophy, logic, and ethics courses provided opportunities for guided development of powers of reasoning. A challenge to the students, these courses sought to strengthen their social, religious, and intellectual standards.

Foreign Language

The Foreign Language Department of Virginia Intermont strives to promote one facet of a student's education which is of extreme value—effective communication between peoples. Students enrolled in French, German, or Spanish are introduced to the basic grammatical structure, the proper elocution, and the practical application of the language. In addition to classroom instruction and drill, students utilize modern language laboratory facilities.

Social Science

With the primary objective of making students aware of what is going on in the world, Virginia Intermont's Social Science Department offers courses in economics, American history, western civilization, psychology, political science, and sociology courses including marriage and the family. With women taking more dominant roles in today's complex society, it becomes increasingly important for her to understand, think for herself, and make decisions. By having instructors who emphasize these qualities, the V.I. graduate carries knowledge that will benefit her in later dealings with the public. Realizing that a woman requires a different type of training in economic and social problems than a man, the department approaches its goal with several different methods and aids.

One aid used in particular, the weekly Humanities series, features speakers who are professionals in their fields, and invites the students to seminars following these lectures. Other facilities offered to students include work with the Juvenile Court as "Big Sisters," or doing case studies. Such jobs stimulate meaningful relationships for all involved. With these and other projects, the Social Science Department emphasizes better understanding of society and the social sciences.

Physical Education

The Physical Education Department offers courses in swimming, horseback riding, skiing, basketball, and tennis.

An active intramural progam enhances the physical education curriculum and promotes good sportsmanship through healthy competition. Through participation in these activities and through courses in personal health, the V.I. student not only becomes physically fit but also develops a true sense of sportsmanship.

Art

With its basic aim of giving the students a greater awareness of their artistic ability and their artistic heritage, as well as proficient studio practices, V.I.'s Art Department directs part of the student's education into the individual and her interactions with a complex and rapidly expanding world.

Supplementing an already extensive line-up of art courses, four new classes were offered this year with the addition of James Agard and Lee Magdanz to the art staff. These were three-dimensional design, lettering, interior design, and arts and crafts, and each involved a basic understanding of technique in the subject. Projects in particular for the interior design course had students constructing three dimensional interior design models with consideration given to wall covering, floor covering, lights and color combinations.

Two student shows exhibited the Art Department's talents; one was given during Parents' Weekend. Virginia Intermont's artistic talents were also represented in a show sponsored by the Wesley Foundation at Virginia Polytechnical Institute. Shows by local artist C. Ernest Cooke, former V.I. instructor, gave students a chance to view cultural exhibitions of professional quality. Monthly art exhibits throughout the year included the works of Mr. Agard, Philip Fraley, and a group of New American Icons of George Chavetel.

In the Secretarial Department this year new horizons and facets of the business world were presented to those students oriented to business. The department directed its efforts toward training students as efficient secretaries, stenographers, and office assistants.

Introductory courses in shorthand, typing, and business math were offered for students with no previous experience with these subjects. For advanced students, courses in transcription, accounting, business law, medical transcription, and business communications were offered.

For the students in the Secretarial Department, practical experience in their fields proved invaluable in and out of the classroom. Such experience was gained as business students worked in campus offices, and medical secretarial students worked in the offices of various Bristol physicians.

Home Economics

The principal aim of the Home Economics Department is to develop practical skills and technical knowledge and to provide experience in homemaking activities.

A variety of classes such as textiles and clothing, family health, foods and nutrition, and home management emphasize the importance of the family well-being.

This year, additional information was gained by touring the Beaunit fiber plant in Elizabethton, Tennessee, and Volunteer Textiles in Bristol, Tennessee. In the spring the students in Home Economics classes acted as hostesses to the residence counselors and faculty at a special tea held in the Home Economics living room.

Speech and Debate

Virginia Intermont's Speech Department finds a variety of accents from students coming from almost every part of the United States and some foreign countries. Offering six courses which include beginning and advanced public speaking, diction, introduction to speech correction, oral interpretation of literautre, and debate, the department teaches basic understanding of how to write and compose a speech, fundamentals for speech presentation, phonetics, and an active study of literature taken from the reader's viewpoint.

In forensics, the Virginia Intermont College debaters have participated in two tournaments this year. The first tournament was held at Appalachian State University, Boone, North Carolina, where the team took first place honors in Impromptu Speaking and a fourth place honor in Dramatic Reading. The second tournament attended was at Morris Harvey College, Charleston, West Virginia.

The Speech Department and PHI RHO PI played host to their first High School Forensic Tournament in November where eleven high schools vied for honors. The high school debaters competed in six events including: after-dinner speaking, original oratory, humorous reading, impromptu speaking, poetry, and dramatics. In March, V.I. again was host for the annual Novice Tournament where area colleges participated. Aside from the collegiate topic, the tournament featured eight events, giving students a chance to participate outside the debating event.

Drama

"Communal effort" might best describe Virginia Intermont's Department of Drama. While the trite phrase, "lights, camera, action," denotes the theater to the layman, V.I. drama majors found that there was much more to Dramatic Art. Beginning with the Virginia Intermont Players overwhelmingly successful production, THE RELUCTANT DEBUTANTE, in November, these able girls continued in December to Marion, Virginia, where they presented ABRAHAM AND ISAAC, considered one of the best surviving medieval morality plays. Highlighting the second semester's work was their performance in February of LOOK HOMEWARD, ANGEL. Utilizing V.I. girls, male students from King College, instructors at V.I., and other local people, this difficult and moving drama showed their impressive talent and ability in acting and set design. So good was their production that a special presentation was given on Parents' Weekend. A series of one-act plays directed by the students, and their final production, THE TROJAN WOMEN, rounded out a year filled with classroom work and considerable on-the-spot experience.

Under the leadership of professional actor Shawn Smith, drama instructor, the girls had the opportunity to work and learn from a man with eleven years of professional experience. A newcomer to the V.I. faculty, Mr. Smith admits the technical facilities of V.I.'s Fine Arts Theater constitute one of the best assets of the Department of Drama.

Music

From its beginning, Virginia Intermont has recognized the creative arts as part of a complete education and as major study for talented students. This department offers degree programs in harpsichord, organ, piano, and voice.

Activities of the Music Department include student, faculty, and guest artist recitals such as: the Camerata Bern; on-campus concerts with college and university vocal groups including the February concert of Hollins and Randolph Macon College joint choirs; the annual choir tour that took the group to Virginia Beach, Virginia; several special programs for civic groups and the college. One highlight of the year was the presentation by this department of KING DAVID, a Symphonic Psalm after a drama by Arthur Honegger.

Organizations

Student Government Association

The Student Government Association for 68-69 has been an effective link between the student body and the new dean. The dynamic work has helped to pass many improved laws and reduced restrictions for Virginia Intermont Students who responded by willingly accepting the added responsibility. The diligent work and competent representation has helped to guide the student body to a better communication with the faculty and administration. The 51 members of SGA have our admiration and respect.

Interclub Council

Jennifer Jung, President

The various clubs on campus, representing the students interests, are united in one common bond by the Interclub Council. In this way they are given an effective voice by vote in SGA. By using this as a tool, they have done much to improve Virginia Intermont Clubs for 1969.

The 1969 Virginia Intermont Choral has been the personification of grace and talent in the ideal Intermont girl. The excellent performance of "King David" in conjunction with local choirs and orchestras was a presentation of the Virginia Intermont Chorale at its best. It was a worthy tribute to the many hours of hard work and the talented guidance of Mr. Charles Tedford, the choir director.

Religious Planning Board

One of the most significant personal achievements of college life is the selection of and devotion to a religion. The Religious Planning Board is a united organization dedicated to introducing the Virginia Intermont Student to the different ways of the several religions represented on campus. They sponsor devotions in the dorms, a birthday party for the students and an annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. The accomplishments of these active clubs help the Virginia Intermont Student become a more complete human being.

Wesley Foundation

The young Methodists of Virginia Intermont are joined together by the Wesley Foundation. The capability of a devoted advisor and the willingness of students to work has helped in making the Wesley Foundation one of the most respected groups on campus. In an effort to better introduce the students to the community, two covered dish dinners were held for the church parents; also a retreat to Camp Ahistadi gave the girls an ideal opportunity to get to know themselves as well as others.

Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club helped the Episcopal students on campus to better know their church, community, and fellow students. Communion services were sponsored all through the year. They were open to all students and offered a moment of quiet in a hectic day of routine. The club also sponsored a 'Peanut Week' in a successful effort to promote friendship.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Students of Virginia Intermont work hand in hand with the B.S.U. to better the college and the community. They are active in work with the Tri-State Children's Home for which they gave a Christmas party. They were the Virginia Intermont representatives to the State Convention this fall in Richmond, Virginia. The inspiration of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Styles has helped to unite the club and give them a well-deserved sense of accomplishment.

Newman Club

The members of the Newman Club work closely with Saint Anne's Catholic Church. One of the favorite jobs of the students is caring for and teaching the small children of the church. This offers the girls an excellent opportunity to better understand people. Many close friendships have been created through work in Fellowship.

Westminster Fellowship

The Presbyterian students on campus are taught more about their church through the Westminster Fellowship. This organization works in conjunction with Dr. Gibboney, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Bristol, Tennessee, in order to accomplish friendship and unity among Presbyterian students. There is a retreat planned annually and meetings are arranged with neighboring colleges.

United Religious Association

The United Religious Association has accomplished exactly what its name implies. It has brought together the girls of different faiths who are not represented by other religious clubs on campus.

Even though they are a small group their work is evident, particularly in their co-sponsoring of the orphans' Christmas party at the Tri State Children's Home. Different religions from Buddhism to Lutheranism are bound closely together in friendship and understanding.

Members are, back: Sue Morgan, Robin Hummer, Jennifer Jung. Front: Wendy Logan, Carol Cuthbertson.

Areannes

The day students of Virginia Intermont join together to carry on their special activities in a group known as the Areannes.

These girls greet the boarding students and work with the Student Government in helping all Virginia Intermont girls adjust to college life.

This year these girls have had a Christmas party and have done many other service projects both for the college and the town of Bristol.

The Day-Student lounge provides a place for all the students to go between class.

Young Republicans

For the Young Republican Club it has been a really exciting and eventful year, campaigning on campus and in the local area. These young citizens worked for the cause and the candidate they believed in. One of the biggest events was the faculty debate with a mock election held afterward. The Nixon people won by a large majority and set to work even harder. These efforts were rewarded in full measure when the Republican candidate was elected.

Two representatives of the Club were selected to attend the inauguration functions in Washington, D. C.

Now the members settle back to a well deserved rest, but soon they will be moving again. Moving toward becoming responsible citizens.

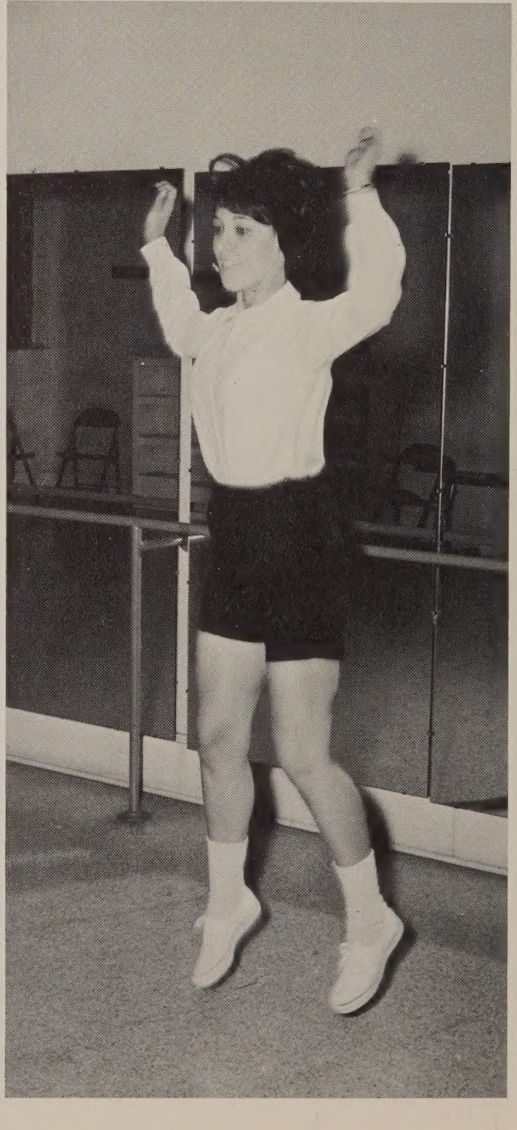
Susan Jaeck and Janice Daniels get ready for their trip to Washington, D. C.

Young Democrats

The Young Democrats Club had a year of great activity, high hopes, and valuable lessons. The work of trying to put their choice in the nation's highest office brought many joys and sorrows to the workers. The faculty debate presented the views of each candidate and the students worked hard before and after the mock election. There were many valuable experiences had by the dedicated youth and they gained a great deal by their active contact with our system of government.

Cheerleaders

The members of the cheering squad have many memories of this year. It all began with the anxiety and action of try outs and increased with the selection of the cheerleaders by the old cheerleaders and the faculty. Practice sessions followed and the girls began to function as a group. For the cheerleaders it has been a truly rewarding year.

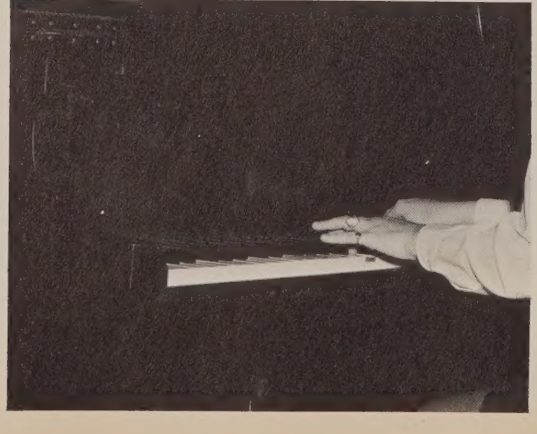


Athletic Association

The Athletic Association is an important organization not only to the P.E. majors, but to every girl in the college. By promoting school spirit and competitive sports events, they bring together the girls with many different interests. A.A. co-ordinates the activities of the various other sports clubs. However, they do their best work in making us concerned for the welfare of V.I.C. at games and events and also concerned for our own welfare through physical fitness.

Phi Beta

It is evident that Phi Beta, a national professional music, speech and drama fraternity, has been extremely active this year at V.I. The new members, elected on the basis of professional ability and interest were initiated in the fall. Fund raising campaigns began with candy and bake sales. Phi Beta joined with the Intermont Players in a program for the mental institution in Marion. Later in the year, Phi Beta was awarded the gavel award. It is the highest honor which any chapter in Phi Beta can attain. Mrs. Turner, the fraternities advisor, received the honor scroll. In the spring, April 28-May 3, Phi Beta will sponsor "My Fair Lady."



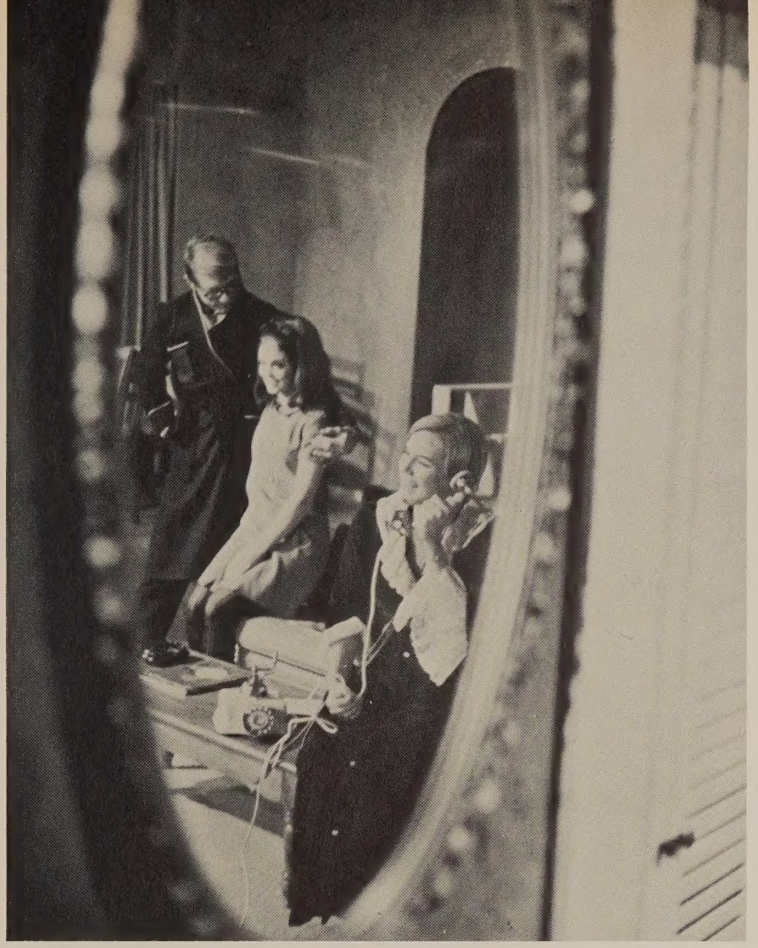
Phi Theta Kappa

The Virginia Intermont Nu chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa fraternity offers recognition to those students maintaining a 2.0 average. Sophomores holding a 2.0 average are pledged in the fall, and the top five freshmen are pledged in February. The chapter was a co-sponsor with the other Greek fraternities in staging the Greek Week-end activities. Susan Holtzclaw and Karen Ratcliff represented Nu on the Greek Week-end Court. The fraternity is a junior college honor scholarship society which corresponds to Phi Beta Kappa.

The purpose of Phi Theta Kappa is to promote scholarship, to develop character, and to cultivate fellowship among the students of the junior colleges of the United States.

Phi Rho Pi

Phi Rho Pi, is a Virginia Intermont Honorary speech and drama fraternity. In October, it was host to a high school and college forensic tournament. The fraternity later sponsored debate trips to California State College, Appalachia State College, and Morris Harvey College. In November, it was co-sponsor of the highly successful Greek Week-end. Mr. Ed Smith, the faculty advisor and the members of Phi Rho Pi worked diligently and well represented Virginia Intermont in the field of debate.



Delta Psi Omega

Delta Psi Omega, is the National Honor Drama Fraternity of Virginia Intermont College. Any student participating in the V.I. productions is eligible for membership. The fraternity helped to sponsor the Swinging Medallions during Greek Week-end. Both the concert and the dance were to publicize membership of the fraternities on campus. In the spring, Delta Psi Omega, in conjunction with the Virginia Intermont Players, puts on a children's play. This production travels to neighboring hospitals and orphanages. The fraternity sponsor, Mr. Shawn Smith, has done much to guide members to a better understanding of drama.

Ellen H. Richards Home Economics Club

The Ellen H. Richards Home Economics Club is an organization for young women taking courses in the homemaking arts. Members meet monthly to hear speakers and discuss problems and developments in the home economics field.

The girl who enters the realm of homemaking is a most important member of her community, for truly "when you educate a woman, you educate a family." The members of the Home Economics Club, through their activities such as their Christmas party for the Bristol Girls Club, are preparing to take their places as useful citizens of the world.

For those who find the problems and events of the world somewhat confusing the International Relations Club provides a new light. Meeting once a month with their sponsors, Mr. Dan Emmel and Miss Audrey Coulter, these girls have discussed many of the current trends in our history.

This year under the exuberant leadership of Cindy Cuttino the club has listened to speakers, watched films, and had dinner meetings.

Virginia Intermont Players

The Virginia Intermont Players are a well organized group of young people, dedicated to the world of drama. Under their new director, Mr. Shawn Smith, three fine examples of these works were presented this year; "The Reluctant Debutant," "Abraham and Isaac," and "Look Homeward, Angel."

Many of these performers contribute a great deal of time and effort to these Dogwood Players' productions. Virginia Intermont Players also add a great deal to the success of many of the Bristol Choir and Humanities Concerts.

Students From Abroad

Again this year Virginia Intermont is fortunate in having many students from other parts of the world.

Many of these students have been able to share a portion of their ideas and customs with other Virginia Intermont girls and faculty. They have been both the teacher and the student on many occasions.

Fire Wardens

Virginia Intermont has a fine group of fire wardens, as they have had in the past. Under the leadership of Chris Proenza the fire wardens of each hall kept order during all drills, no matter when they were. Mr. Roberts and Mrs. Atwell are the club sponsors.

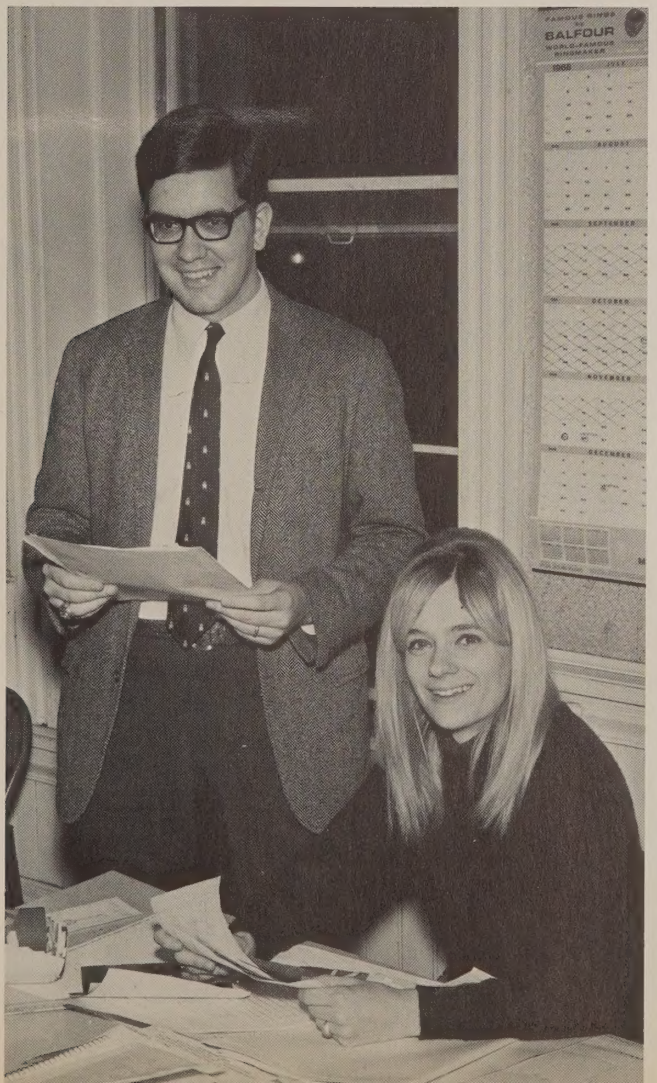
During the fall several of the fire wardens participated in a Fire Prevention program. And in the spring all the girls were able to visit the fire house in Bristol.

Right: Mr. Bolling, Chris Proenza, Mrs. Atwell, and Mr. Roberts, the back bone of the club.

Nostra Filiae

The Nostra Filiae consists of girls whose mothers or grandmothers attended V.I. These girls participate in many campus activities and especially alumni weekend. This group carries on the fine tradition of Virginia Intermont in the field of higher education. It passes the college name down each family tree.

The fashion show held in the Student Center during Alumni Weekend was a great success.



The Cauldron

The student-operated newspaper, THE CAULDRON, re-defined and re-organized its coverage of campus events and topics during the 1968-1969 school year.

Besides improving in the second semester its news coverage and editorial objectives, the newspaper underwent several tangible changes. The addition of a journalism course increased the quality and quantity of writing. With the advisor, Mr. Crawford, helping them, the staff planned more issues.

By providing these changes, the staff and advisors worked to move THE CAULDRON into a more responsible position as a valuable communication medium for the students of Virginia Intermont and prospective students of the college.

Cothurnus

In planning the two issues of Cothurnus, the creative literary publication of the college, the staff and advisors had four major objectives. They attempted a correlation between the literature contributed and the artistic design of the publication, better quality of content, and a greater variety of material included, plus administrative support for the work's professional printing by a local firm.

Winter brought the first issue with high anticipation for the second final issue to follow in late spring. Staff members received congratulations for their impressive efforts when student praise continually dominated campus comments after each issue. It was not all work for the staff because this year they helped sponsor Publications Weekend in April, featuring The Tams and The Collegiates.

The Intermont Staff

Surely every student who ever edited a yearbook has said, "This year it's going to be different." But we have not attempted to make THE INTERMONT 1969 different merely for the sake of being different. We have tried, rather, to offer something better. The book contains more color photography and candid pages than any of its predecessors. It is not merely a record for the records are everywhere; it is an album of people, Virginia Intermont people, as they looked and acted in 1969.

Without the cooperation of so many people THE INTERMONT 1969 would have been impossible to produce. The few names on the opposite page represent the core of those responsible—but not fully. There were countless hours in the 6th Intermont carrel as well as the staff room, on the phone in tears, and all night sessions behind the typewriter—hours that only a few will remember or want to remember. Some, of course, did more than others. There are names that do not appear in the listings of the staff like Jeanie McDanolds, Libby Bitely, Charlene Overstreet, and Mary Molly Murphy, who helped in their own special ways. I am hoping that the yearbook will be their reward.

As for the staff, a very special thank you for all your efforts.

Sincerely,
The Editor

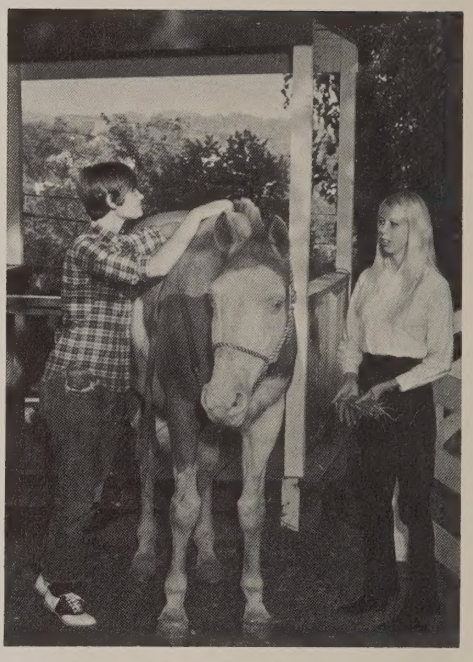
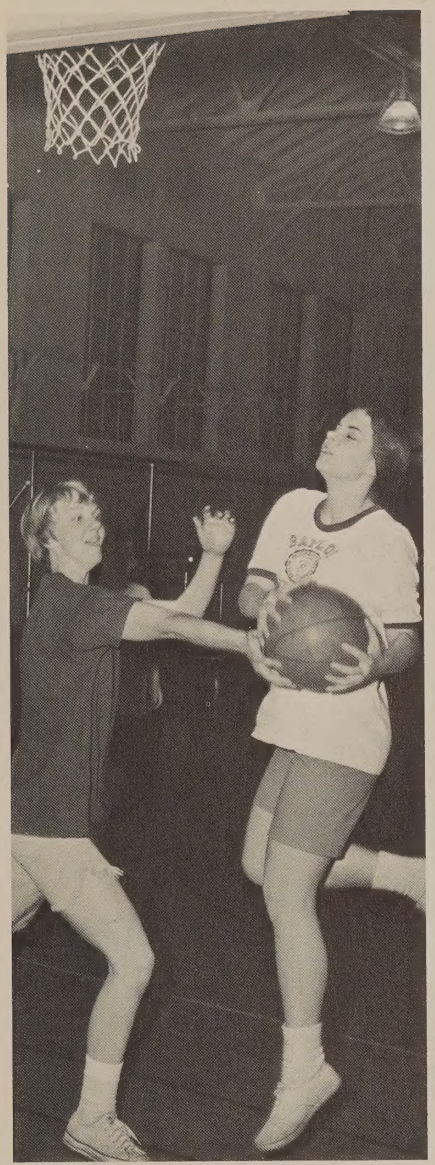
Boots and Saddle Club

One of the largest organizations on campus, the Boots and Saddle Club brings together a common interest in equestrian activities. This fall the club scheduled a get-acquainted party, a fashion show featuring riding attire, and a Gymkhana—a breathless afternoon of games on horseback—where all riding students competed. Christmas favored each member with a miniature leather-stirrup key chain and of course, lots of Christmas fun.

Spring brought the fulfillment of long plans for their unique, psychedelic, Merry-O-Rama Banquet where new officers were installed. Epitomizing the desire of every V.I. esquestrian, however, was the trip to the Kentucky Derby, where the excitement of racing could be witnessed first hand. Bringing the year to a close was the annual horse show. It, too, presented the evidence of new skills and techniques learned and, for many, closed a scrapbook of ribbons, programs, notes, and special awards—a scrapbook to be fondly cherished in later days.



Officers: Susan Adams, Vice President; Gay Dalton, President; Susan Bennett, Secretary; Edie Merritt, Publicity. (Not present; Katy Goff, Treasurer.)



Basketball Team

With a young, enthusiastic, and energetic new coach, Miss Constance Gallahan, Virginia Intermont's basketball team worked hard to meet a challenging season. While new uniforms brightened both team and court, the outcome of games proved to be the important factor. Suffering losses to their sister school, Sullins, Emory and Henry, Clinch Valley, and Milligan College, the Virginia Intermont squad stressed speed and adept ball-handling in their remaining games. Returning sophomores Katy Goff and Mitzi Boex gave aggressive leadership and support to the predominantly freshman squad.

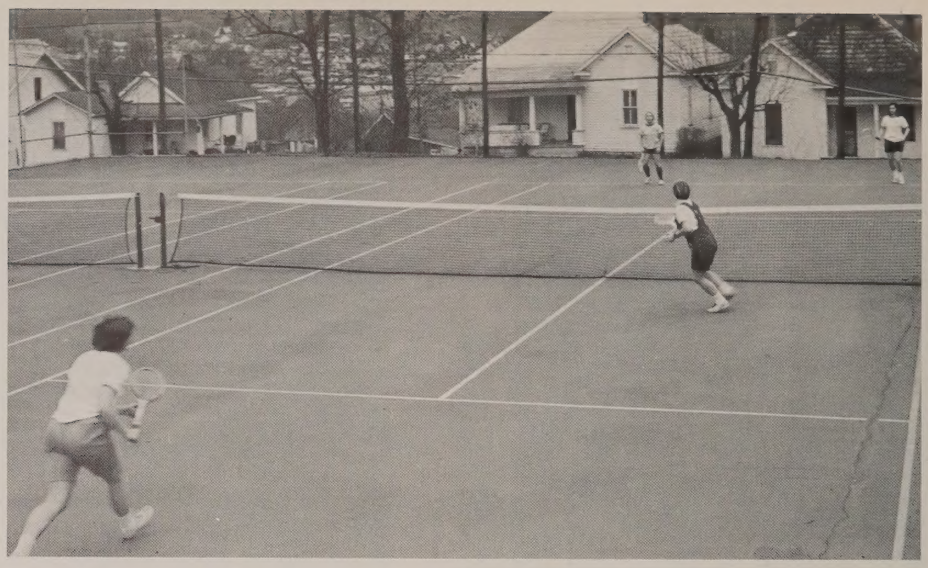
Tennis Team

Warm, sunny days in late fall and even some mid-winter days found Virginia Intermont's tennis enthusiasts working for perfection in that sport. With the attitude that "practice makes perfect," tennis team members prepared for Spring's rapid approach. Forehand and backhand swings became fast and accurate, and serves achieved a professional level. Armed with rackets, tennis balls, and the mightiest of weapons, enthusiasm, the team selected participants for doubles and singles play and took on a difficult season of competition.

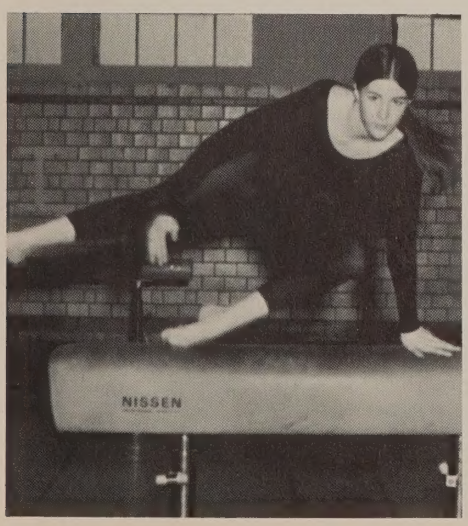


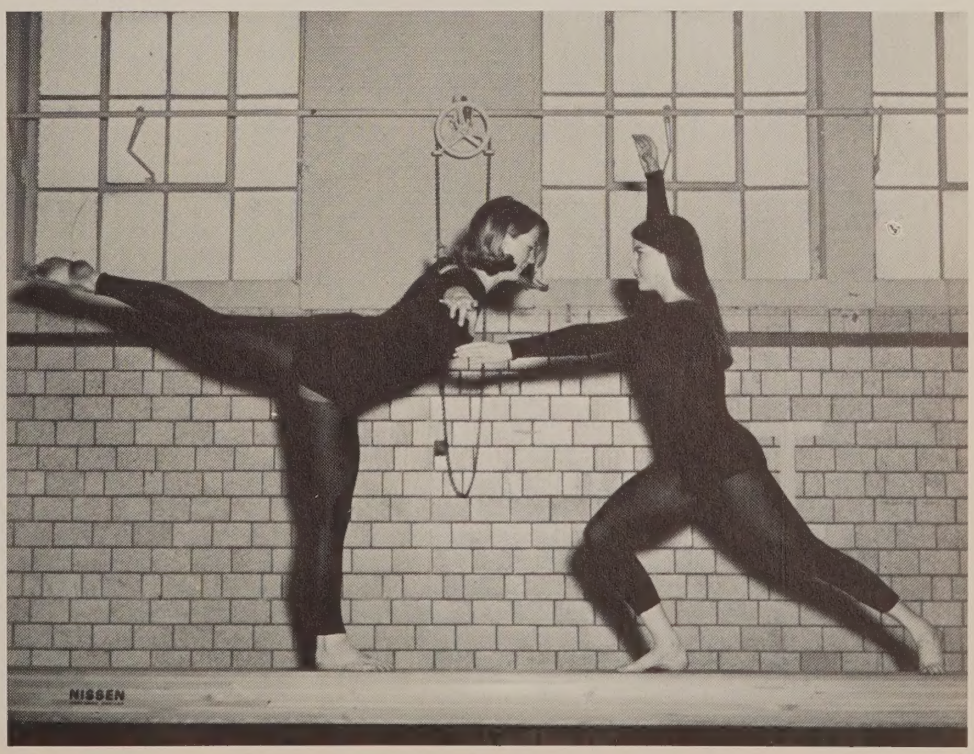
Sandy Enloe, DeeDee Motley, Pam Stultz, Betsy Hodges.

Orchesis and Gymnastics

Agility and excellent co-ordination combine forces to make Orchesis and Gymnastics two of the most graceful forms of activity on campus. Selective membership and exceptional talent impel Orchesis, the modern dance company, to strive for meaningful expression through well-executed dance movements. Long hours of practice, choreography and costuming go into the exciting presentation of the annual Orchesis show for Parents' Weekend.

Those who have a flair for graceful patterns on the balance beam find Gymnastics their outlet. Co-ordination plus is a necessity for this sport that also involves rings, trampolines, parallel bars and 'the horse' in its everyday activities.

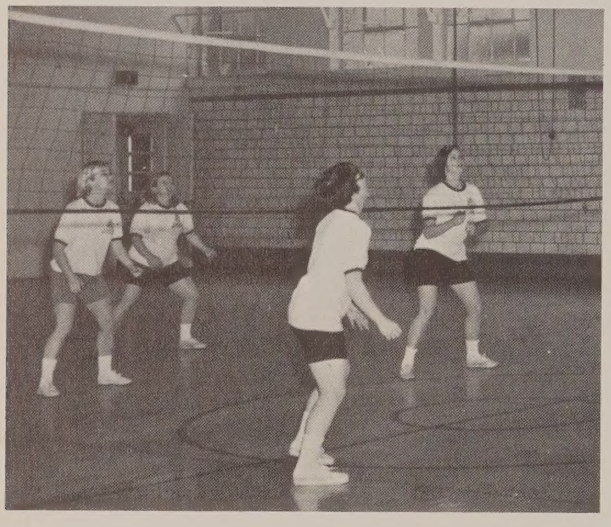


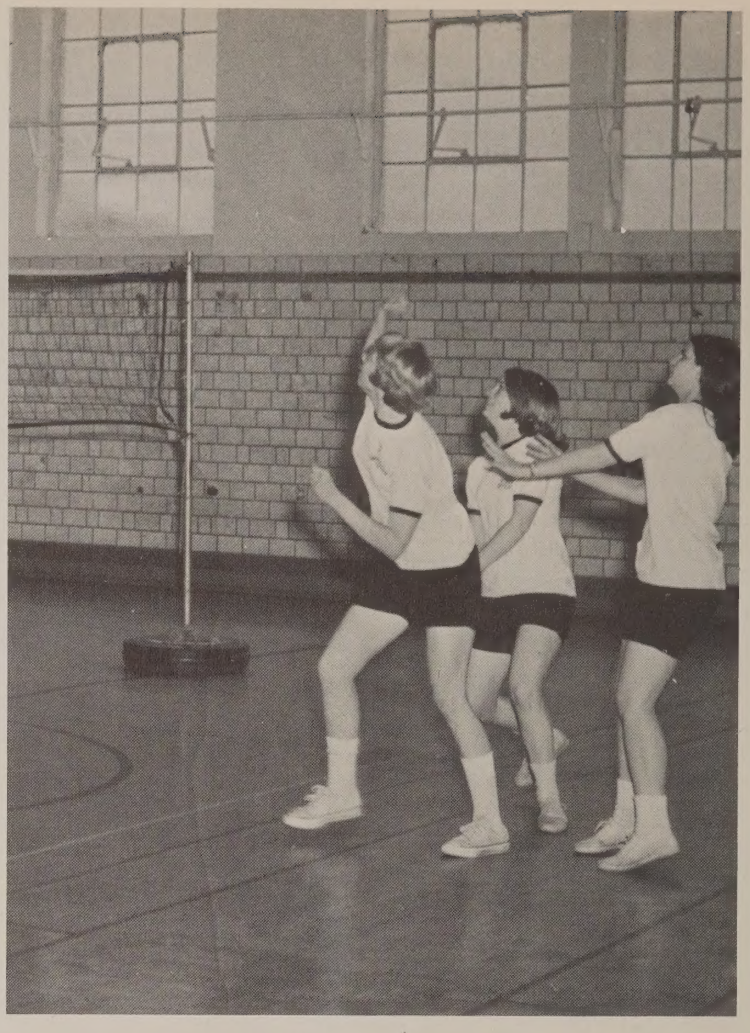


Nancy Richards and Erica Luehrs move through their routine on the balance beam.

Volleyball Team

Volleyball Co-captains Bren Karcich and Darlene Disney have found the gym to be home for many hours of practice and active games. They and the other members of the Virginia Intermont volleyball team challenged such schools as King College, Sullins, and Clinch Valley College in four weeks of tough competition. While not having the most successful season, the team rated high in team spirit, and continued their enthusiasm in a Volleyball Play-Day, meeting and competing with other area colleges on the V.I. campus.





Katy, Nancy, and Darlene work together.

Competitive Equitation

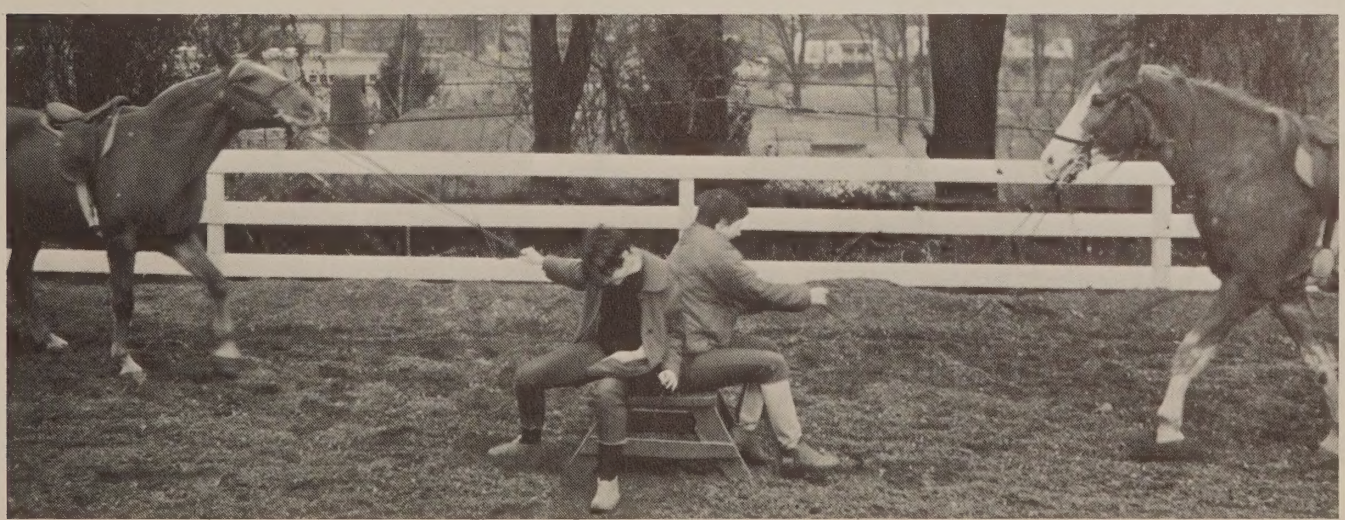
Spirit in competitive equitation runs high at Virginia Intermont, both within the college and in local shows. This year the riding department sent eighteen riders and twelve horses to the "A Day in the Country" Show. A project of the Episcopal Women's Club, conducted at Sullins College, the show awarded V.I. girls four trophies and twenty-four ribbons.

Creating enthusiasm for students in the fall was the Gymkhana, with over 100 members of the riding department participating in games on horseback. Along with final exams and anticipation of graduation for the Sophomores, the annual college horse show led the list of commencement events; following this event, trophies were presented.

Marsha Morris and Anna Carr work one of the Pair Class entries.

Kathy Kern and Buster rest after winning an event in the gymkhana.



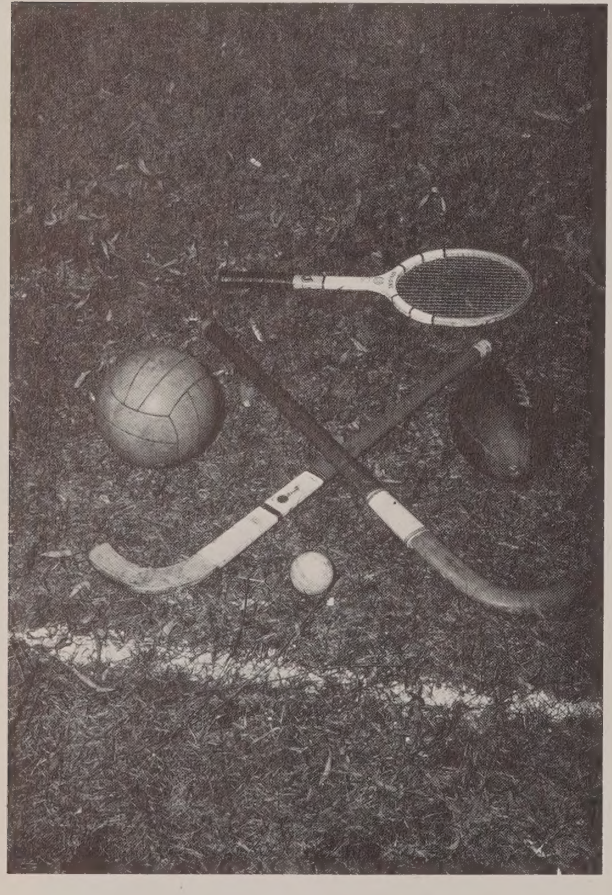
Kathy and Cindy fight for the seat at the gymkhana.

Intramurals

Sponsored by the Athletic Association, Intramurals offer each girl a chance to participate in sports events, even if she is not a physical education major. Intramurals match players from different floors of the dorms in a variety of sports and games. Beside the fact that these activities arouse excitement among the girls, they encourage team spirit and loyalty to dormmates.

With the addition this year of powderpuff football to the list of sports played, the girls' participation was even more active. In fact, this sport seemed to be favored most.

Anxious girls awaited the outcome of each tournament, hoping that their dorm would come out on top. At the conclusion of the year, trophies were presented. Girls who had made the required number of points proudly wore their letters and or sweaters—an honor which quietly says a lot about student-school spirit.



Many enjoyable hours were spent in the gym playing basketball.

Speedball was another favorite for the girls who participated in Intramurals.

Powderpuff football was a new sport for V.I. girls this year.

H_2O Club

"It comes as naturally as breathing." Members of Virginia Intermont's H_2O club well illustrate this statement, and for those who want proof—just watch them at swim practice every Thursday afternoon as they polish the basic skills of water ballet.

To swim is only the beginning. For qualification in this club requires satisfactory demonstration of a ballet leg, back dolphin, surface dive, rhythmic swimming, and a standing front dive. Beginning with these basics, the perfection of techniques begins, and hard work brings its rewards.

"Neptune's Paradise" climaxed the work of these girls as they presented the mystery and grace of the sea to the entire college. Having transformed the pool into a magic paradise, with sea horses, dolphins, an octopus and a pirate ship, the H_2O club staged their annual water show, revealing the elegance of water ballet.

Swim Team

Although the swimmers and divers of Virginia Intermont's Swim Team got off to a late start, they made up for lost time in their four meets of the season. Coming up on the winning side against such opponents as East High, Sullins College, and Ferrum College, the girls perfected their competitive ability in the long hours of practice sessions.

Under the direction of Mrs. Donald Smith and Hallie Dean, Swim Team Captain, the girls attained an excellent style in the field of swimming and diving.

Members: Katy Goff, Maureen Murphy, Nancy Richards, Susan Parker, Jackie Wood, Sarah Ford, Sue Allen, Keitha Wagner, Linda Poulton, Betty Roy, Pam Stultz, Kathy Sullivan, Betty Bordon, Sherry Krum.

Hockey Team

If you see a sudden flash and a vague outline of a hockey stick, you can bet your boots that it belongs to a member of Virginia Intermont's Hockey Team. They are either racing off to a game or limping back from one. Victorious in almost all of their games, the team completed a challenging season with Miss Constance Gallahan as their mentor. Miss Gallahan led the team to winning scores and, in the process, sparked a new perspective on physical activity.

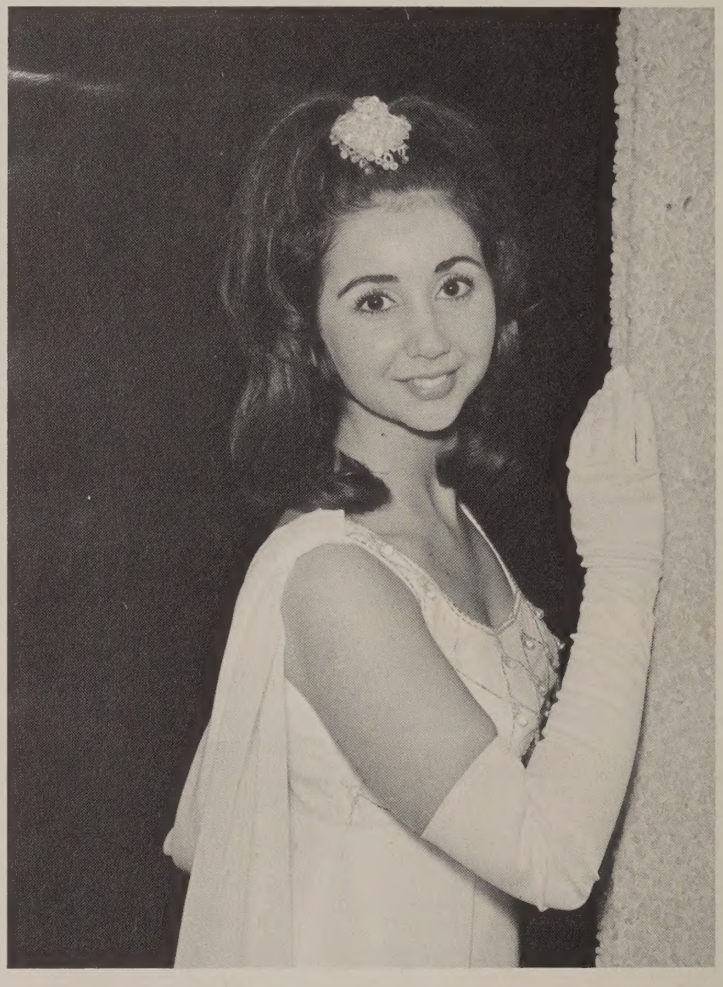
Apple Blossom Princess



Miss Cheryl Lynn McCarus

The Shenandoah Apple Blossom festival, an annual event since 1924, was held in Winchester, Virginia on May 1, 2, and 3. The Apple Blossom Princesses are chosen from the colleges and universities in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania.

Miss Cheryl McCarus was selected by Dr. Floyd V. Turner, president, for the forty-second Apple Blossom festival on the basis of a creditable academic standing, personality, congeniality, and poise.

Freshman Class Sweetheart

Miss Keith Franklyn Webb

Last year's Freshman Class Sweetheart, Miss Anne French, returned to V.I. to relinquish her crown to the 1969 Freshman Class Sweetheart, Miss Kit Webb of Suffolk, Virginia.

Her selection was by the entire freshman class voting on ten candidates, from which five girls were selected as finalists. The four finalists and the 1969 Sweetheart were presented during the Sweetheart Dance at the Martha Washington Inn in Abingdon, Virginia.

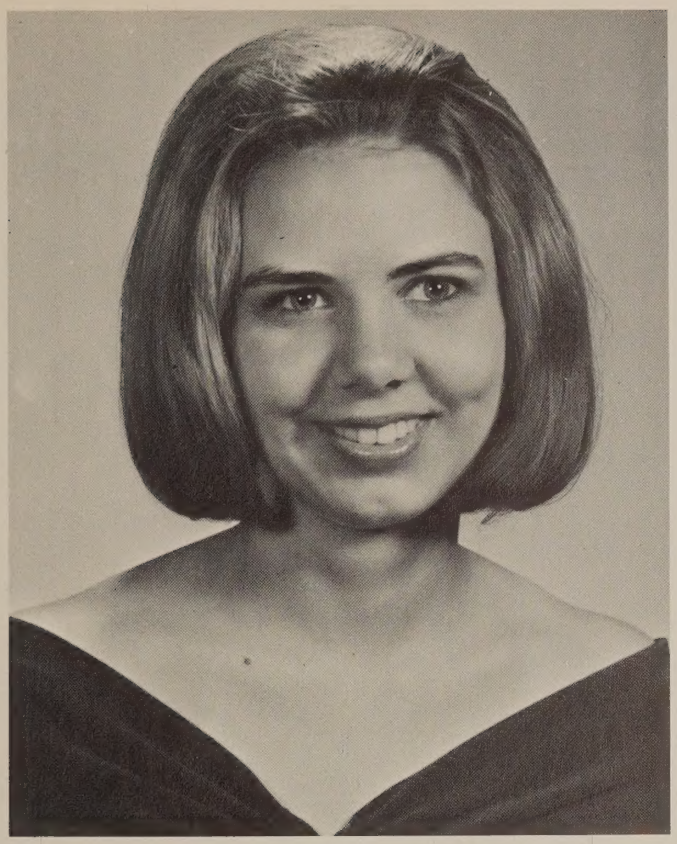
Miss Ideal Intermont

Miss Jennifer Jane Jung

Sheboygan, Wisconsin

To be chosen as "Miss Ideal Intermont" is one of the highest honors a student of Virginia Intermont can receive. Selected by an alumnae committee on the basis of character, leadership, scholastic achievement, school spirit, personality and attractiveness, the honoree represents the "essence of Intermont." This year's choice, Miss Jennifer Jung, serves as president of the Student Government Association, is among those chosen for Who's Who in American Junior Colleges, and is in the 1969 May Court. In addition, she is one of the 1969 Torchbearers.

For Jennifer Jung, these many honors are merely reflections of the honor which she has brought to Virginia Intermont through her quiet concern for others, her friendly manner, and her ever-present smile. Miss Jennifer Jung is truly MISS IDEAL INTERMONT.



Miss Karen Ratcliff

The Margaret Noffsinger Memorial Scholarship

The Margaret Noffsinger Memorial Scholarship Fund was started by the Virginia Intermont faculty immediately after the death of Margaret, the daughter of President and Mrs. Noffsinger, in July, 1933. The interest gained from this fund is awarded yearly to an outstanding returning freshman. The recipient for the 1968-1969 scholarship is Miss Karen Ratcliff of Newport, Tennessee.

Miss Anna Hall

The Dean Marguerite Pflug Scholarship

The Dean Marguerite Pflug Scholarship Fund was begun by the trustees in 1957 in honor of the forty-three years of service that Miss Pflug rendered to Virginia Intermont College. The recipient of this scholarship is chosen on the basis of academic achievement, leadership, and character. Miss Anna Lorene Hall is the recipient of the 1968-1969 Dean Marguerite Pflug Scholarship.

1969

Torchbearers

A tradition at Virginia Intermont for more than a quarter of a century, The Intermont yearbook staff has honored students who, during their enrollment at the college have excelled in leadership. This year Torchbearers for 1969 were nominated and selected by the student body not only for their accomplishments at Virginia Intermont, but also for their promise of achievement in the future.

Among the Torchbearers this year are the two class presidents, several class officers, two executive officers of S.G.A., committee chairmen and members of S.G.A., the May Queen, and the Apple Blossom Princess.

From Autumn winds to winter snows and icy storms,
Through rainy days, shining nights
and glorious morns,
Our V.I.C. led us through a learned path,
And showed us how to find what life has come to be.
(Until It's Time For You To Go: tune)

Guidance now the key, will grant us liberty,
Freedom to show our love, Faith to spur us on.
Pride in our family, The humble grace to see
Once together we'll always stand,
Friends eternally.
(There's A Place For Us: tune)

Our hearts will be in grateful memory
For all the gifts bestowed on us.
The years may quickly pass
Forget not of the day
When our friendships were the burning torch of life.
(Exodus: tune)

by Lockie Roach

FRESHMAN PROCLAMATION SONG

We came and you opened your doors
Our fears overwhelmed us no more
The hills welcomed every impression,
Ambitions, desires, new goals.

Our minds were aware at the sight
Our guide, V.I.C.'s shining light
Of life, learning, knowledge and courage
We'll search for the road to our dreams.
This be our aim
while here at V.I.
To follow our Father
not questioning why
To carry His will
To its fullest degree
and to sing out with pride
To our dear V.I.C.

And with truth, we will carry your flame
To uphold V.I.'s name.
Our hearts, cherish memories of years filled with smiles and with tears.

Teach us love, so we're able to care
Make us strong, for the troubles we bear
Lift our eyes to the hopes of tomorrow
We'll strive for the goals of today.
(The Impossible Dream: tune)

In Memoriam

MR. SPURGEON O. SNODGRASS
June 20, 1908—December 26, 1968

Spurgeon O. Snodgrass was a quiet, kind man who was "involved" in life. His was not a flamboyant involvement, but an involvement of service and of caring about others. A graduate of Emory and Henry College, Mr. Snodgrass was business manager during the administration of three V.I. presidents.

Always, it seemed, Spurgeon Snodgrass' life touched young people. And as he helped them directly, he helped them indirectly—offering them an example of how much one man can do if he really tries.

His was an example available, also, to his contemporaries, who knew him as a man always willing to serve whenever his service was needed. To him, and others like him, living was not enough. Men need a purpose, and they need to serve. Spurgeon Snodgrass lived in the fulfillment of that purpose.

—from an editorial,
Bristol Herald Courier, 12/27/68

Mr. Spurgeon O. Snodgrass

MISS ELIZABETH RUTH BUTLER
March 29, 1905—December 10, 1968

Miss Elizabeth R. Butler was a silent figure of a woman. Not many people knew her well, but those who were close to her admired her ease in communicating with so many different types of people. Perhaps she acquired this ability while visiting, studying, or working in places like Venezuela, Mexico, France, Haiti, North Africa, Italy, Phillipines, and the West Indies.

It is plausible that Miss Butler learned about human communication while still in her homeland of Sweden, and in the academic worlds of several universities. Miss Butler received her master's degree from Columbia University, other degrees from the University of Paris, with other work at the University of Wisconsin, Indiana University, and Vanderbilt University. With such extensive educational and cultural experiences to her credit, Miss Butler's presence was indeed an asset to Virginia Intermont College.

From the Editor . . .

Throughout THE INTERMONT 1969, several factors were emphasized. These were providing as nearly complete a history of the year as possible capturing the life of the students, perfecting copy and layouts, and often re-doing them many times. If the planning was carried out successfully, then some of the joy and some of the excitement, some of the fun and enlightenment which are characteristic of the college years will emerge from these pages—thus justifying the book's publication and the editor's and staff's efforts.

Special thanks are due to the staff and friends, those who stepped in at the last and those who stayed until the end. Large medals of honor go to Mr. H. B. Brady, our patient and tactful advisor; Mr. Bob Mainord, Mr. Mac Upshaw, Mr. Merle Tyler, and Mrs. Shirley George of Taylor Publishing Company; and Mr. Richard Dickerson, our tireless photographer. These people were an integral part of THE INTERMONT 1969 and gave it much of their time. A unique award must also be given to our sales representative and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pearson—the editor's parents—who patiently and generously contributed their 'long distance' morale, late evenings in Knoxville proof-reading and correcting mistakes, and invaluable assistance on those all weekend sessions of tears and hard work. For their having helped and understood, this editor-daughter shall be eternally grateful—for truly there can be nothing without academic, professional and parental guidance.

Now that the end is in sight, the long hours, and constant headaches seem worthwhile. Those who look into the INTERMONT room and wonder what went on can never know what they have missed—a great experience.

Best wishes for the future,

Charlotte Pearson
